THE LEAP YEAR WITH 2 ADARS:

The month of Adar I is added to the calendar during a shana me'uberes (a leap year), which is this year.

The Mishna (BT Megillah 6b) states: "There is no difference between the first Adar and the second Adar – except for reading the Megillah and matanos li'evyonim (gifts to the poor)."

Based on the Gemara, we consider both Adars as equivalent in terms of the issur (prohibition) of eulogies and fasting on the days of Purim (i.e. the 14th and 15th of both months). On these days, we do not say tachanun, lamnatzeach... ya'anacha Hashem, ortzidkatcha (on Shabbas).

Some authorities rule that one should feast and rejoice on the two days of Purim Katan. The Rama concludes: "In any event, he should indulge a bit in feasting, in order to accommodate those who are stringent..."

Bar Mitzvah: If a boy was born during a regular year, he does not become a bar mitzvah until Adar II (assuming that the bar mitzvah occurs during a shana me'uberes).

Yahrzeit: The poskim disagree when it comes to the yahrzeit of someone who was died during a regular year: Should the yahrzeit be commemorated during Adar I or Adar II? According to the Shulchan Aruch, the yom hazikaron (yahrzeit) comes out during Adar II, but Ashkenazim commemorate the yahrzeit during Adar I. However, some are strict and fast in both Adar I and Adar II. If the death occurred in Adar II, the custom is to only commemorate Adar II.
